Under the Same Sky

With Love BY KRISTY

New Designer!

Under the Same Sky is a cozy, celestial folk collection filled with joy, warmth, comfort, and a touch of whimsy. Sleepy little towns, glowing moons, twinkling stars, and playful constellations come together in a warm, vibrant palette. At its heart is a celebration of togetherness and the idea that, wherever we are, we all rest beneath the same sky.

Perfect for cozy-season sewing and handmade gifts, the collection includes two coordinating panels: a joyful "Peace on Earth" statement panel and a peaceful nighttime village panel accompanied by three smaller celestial scenes. Use them individually for mini quilts and holiday decorations, or as special centerpieces within larger quilts.

Kristy Kay is a color-loving artist and textile designer living in Los Angeles with her partner, daughter, and two friendly dogs. Growing up surrounded by makers, she spent her childhood drawing, painting, and collecting treasures that might someday become something new. Her work draws inspiration from mid-century design, graphic 1960s illustration, folk art, and a lifelong love of color and storytelling.

For over a decade, Kristy worked as a visual development artist in animation, helping shape the look and feel of films including The SpongeBob Movie: Sponge on the Run, Hotel Transylvania 2, and Smurfs: The Lost Village. Her artwork is known for its playful use of color, bold shapes, and optimistic spirit.

After becoming a mother, Kristy found herself increasingly drawn to a slower, more hands-on way of making. Designing fabric became a natural extension of her illustration work, inviting others to bring her artwork into their own homes.

Kristy believes that color has the power to brighten a room, spark creativity, and make everyday life a little more joyful... and she hopes her fabrics do a little bit of all three.
